

WALKER WILCOX CLIENT WINS ASYLUM

Walker Wilcox Partners successfully represented a citizen of Cameroon in his bid to obtain asylum in the United States.

The client sought asylum in the United States after being persecuted by the Cameroon police for his membership in the Southern Cameroon National Council and for his support of Anglophones in Cameroon.

In connection with Walker Wilcox's association with the National Immigrant Justice Center, Walker Wilcox represented the client at his Immigration Hearing. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Immigration Judge concluded the client had suffered past persecution in Cameroon and based on events since that time, had a reasonable fear of future persecution should he be returned to Cameroon.
