OVERVIEW

Kevin Kojs is a highly skilled attorney based in Chicago, with a strong focus on insurance coverage and litigation. With extensive experience in various areas of law, Kevin specializes in insurance coverage, commercial litigation, and tort litigation. He has successfully handled cases involving coverage issues pertaining to first-party property, third-party general liability, professional liability, directors' and officers' liability, and general commercial liability.

As a seasoned litigator, Kevin is well-versed in all aspects of trial litigation, including motion practice, discovery, depositions, oral arguments, mediations, and bench and jury trials.

Kevin earned his Juris Doctor from The John Marshall Law School, and prior to that, he obtained his Bachelor's Degree from Webster University, where he excelled as a member of the school's baseball team for all four years. During his time in law school, Kevin gained valuable experience by clerking for Judge Barbara Petrungaro of the Will County Circuit Court, as well as two prominent personal injury law firms.
