OVERVIEW

Elizabeth ("Liz") joined the Chicago office of Walker Wilcox as an associate in 2024. She focuses her practice on insurance coverage litigation and direct defense in tort and medical malpractice cases. Prior to joining the firm, Liz practiced at a personal injury firm, where she represented plaintiffs in medical malpractice and automobile cases.

Liz received her J.D. from Loyola University Chicago in 2022. While in law school, Liz served as Lead Articles Editor for the Loyola Law Review and tutored Legal Writing. She was also a student attorney with the Community Law Clinic where she represented individuals in divorce proceedings and acted as a guardian ad litem.
